Cathy Busby: Acquired in 1964
Pat Wendt

To celebrate its 50th anniversary, the gallery commissioned Busby to produce an installation that explored its collection. Taking its starting point the creation of a collection aimed to reflect Canada's art and art history, the artist was interested in how a time-based sampling, as opposed to an interp can tell us something about a time and a place in the life of an institution. In English and French.

Someweres
Pan Wendt and Aaron
Weldon

A survey of the work of thirteen emerging contemporary artists living in the Maritimes and their engagement with the question of region. The publication's title reflects the multiplicity and uncertain origin of the region's identity, defined as much by dreams and myths of escape as by any inherent qualities.

Dan Steeves:
The Memory of Pain
Tom Smart

The Memory of Pain examines an intensely personal trauma that afflicted the artist's family. The prints comprising this exhibition are depictions of home and of the ruins of the Second World War Austrian slave labour and Jewish concentration camp at Mauthausen. Steeves' personal struggle and its lingering memories are points of departure for a compelling artistic exploration of an encounter with pain and suffering and its transformative, mortal aspects.
